Tim has performed for everyone from Princess Margaret to Ted Turner and with everyone from Pete Fountain to Dickey Betts of The Allman Brothers. He has entertained audiences from intimate listening rooms to crowds of over 60,000 at 1988's Peach Bowl in Atlanta, where he performed a one-man, 45 minute pre-game concert and National Anthem (accompanied by a 3,000-member collegiate band. Tim was also chosen to perform for NFL Commissioner Pete Tagliabue at the Superdome in New Orleans in conjunction with Super Bowl 24.

Born in Chattanooga in the 50's, Tim's parents gave him a toy piano at age 3. He soon began picking out melodies to hymns he heard in church, as well as radio hits and television theme songs. At age 5, formal training began and continued through his teen years, where he found himself more interested in what he was hearing on local pop radio stations, rather than in classical music. And as musically diverse as the Beatles and Andy Williams were, Tim was drawn to both. With a professional musical career that has spanned 40 years, that musical diversity has served him well.

As a solo performer, Tim has shared the stage with such artists as B.J. Thomas, Felix Cavilere from The Rascals, Gary Puckett & The Union Gap, Ray Stevens, David Allen Coe, The Swinging Medallions, Kathy Mattea, Louise Mandrell, Ed Bruce, Sawyer Brown, Larry Gatlin, Chet Atkins, Mickey Newbury, and Karla Bonoff. He has been a guest artist at festivals in Florida ... The Miracle Mile Festival in Coral Gables, The River City Festival in Miami, and SpringFest in Pensacola. He has been home to the famous Riverbend Festival in Chattanooga, as well as the NightFall Concert Series. Tim has also been a longtime annual guest songwriter at The Frank Brown International Songwriter's Festival in Perdido Key, Florida. He has entertained corporate dignitaries from Coca-Cola, Delta Airlines, Georgia-Pacific, CNN and TBS, and sports icons such as Tommy Lasorda, Joe Torre and Pat Riley.

As a supporting musician, Tim has toured internationally, playing keyboards and singing backup vocals for Crystal Gayle, Rita Coolidge, Doug Stone, Earl Thomas Conley, Billy Joe Royal and Sonny Turner of The Platters. Tim has made appearances on various network television shows and in commercial music videos. He has performed on The Tonight Show with Jay Leno, BBC radio and television, and appeared in the movie Gordy.

A favorite of Atlanta sports fans, Tim has performed The National Anthem (acappella) more than 100 times for The Atlanta Braves, Hawks, Falcons, and Flames. Note that he was personally invited by Tommy Lasorda to sing the Anthem for the LA Dodgers.

Tim's songwriting ability is naturally as diverse as his musical influences and styles. Rita Coolidge recorded Out of The Blues (the title-cut to her 1996 critically acclaimed CD), which she co-wrote with Tim. The Native American group Walela recorded Tim's soul-searching Wash Your Spirit Clean on their award-winning debut CD, with the song being featured on numerous compilation projects.

So this is what Tim has accomplished in his musical career until now. In the past year, he has felt impressed to start a music ministry, which will focus primarily on performing concerts in and for churches around the U.S. He has been playing concerts in churches for the past 8 years - - in addition to his sister-schedule in the secular arena, featuring festivals, various live-entertainment venues, corporate events, charity events, senior citizen venues, private functions ... and from time to time, hitting the road again for shows with Crystal Gayle. Tim feels God has been leading him in a more spiritual musical direction, and he wants to follow that calling from now on.

The title to Tim's newest CD is GOD IS WORKIN' because God really has been working in his life and many others. Tim would love to share his "Gospirisophical' (gospel/spiritual/philosophical) songs with you and your loved ones.
